GRANTS

Vanderbilt University

1. Study: Memory Improvement through Nicotine Dosing (MIND)
Major Goals: To see if daily transdermal nicotine is able to produce a significant cognitive, clinical and functional improvement in participants with MCI.
Source of Support: R01AG047992 NIA/USC
Study PI: Paul Aisen, Paul Newhouse, Role: Site PI
2. Project Title: Connectivity Affecting the Antidepressant Response (CAARE)
Grant Title: "Neural Connectivity Affecting the Antidepressant Response: Testing a Lesion Model"
Funding: NIH R01 MH102246
Role: Study Clinician, PI: Warren Taylor, MD
Project: examines the hypothesis that in focal hyperintense lesions have discrete effects on structural and functional measures of neural circuits in older depressed adults. It also examines how focal changes may influence the antidepressant response and examines if there may be differential effects of focal lesions based on what circuits are impaired and the antidepressant's mechanism of action.
2015-2020

Butler Hospital/Brown University

3. Title: Alzheimer's Clinical Trials Consortium (ACTC) (U24)
Major Goals: Consortium to accelerate drug development for Alzheimer's disease
Status of Support: Active

Revised June 2024

Project Number: 1U42AG057437-01

Name of PD/PI: Paul Aisen, MD, Site PI: Meghan Riddle

Source of Support: National Institute on Aging

Primary Place of Performance: University of Southern California

Project/Proposal Start and End Date: 12/2017 – 06/2023

Total Award Amount (including Indirect Costs): 582,876

4. Title: A phase II, multicenter, randomized, double-blind, Placebo-controlled, parallel group, efficacy, and safety study of MTAU9937A in patients with moderate Alzheimer's disease.

Major Goals: This Phase II, multicenter, randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, parallel-group study will evaluate the clinical efficacy, safety, pharmacokinetics, and pharmacodynamics of semorinemab in patients with moderate AD. The study consists of a screening period, a double-blind treatment period, an optional open-label extension (OLE) period, and a safety follow-up period. There may be up to two study cohorts.

Status of Support: Active

Project Number: GN40040

Site PI: Meghan Riddle

Source of Support: Genentech, Inc.

6. Title: A Placebo-Controlled, Double Blind, Parallel-Group, 18-Month Study with an Open-Label Extension Phase to Confirm Safety and Efficacy of BAN 2401 in Subjects with Early Alzheimer's Disease.

Major Goals: This study will be conducted to evaluate the efficacy of Lecanemab in participants with early Alzheimer's disease (EAD) by determining the superiority of Lecanemab compared with placebo on the change from baseline in the Clinical Dementia Rating-Sum of Boxes (CDR-SB) at 18 months of treatment in the Core Study. This study will also evaluate the long-term safety and tolerability of Lecanemab in participants with EAD in the Extension Phase and whether the long-term effects of Lecanemab as measured by the CDR-SB at the end of the Core Study is maintained over time in the Extension Phase.

7. Title: US POINTER Imaging Ancillary Study

Major Goals: The goal of the imaging ancillary study is to address gaps in current science by determining whether imaging measurements of AD and cerebrovascular pathophysiology are amenable to improvement with the lifestyle intervention implemented in POINTER. It will also determine the pathological profile of individuals who stand to benefit most from such an intervention, thereby maximizing the public health benefit provided by U.S. POINTER.

8. Title: The POINTER Neurovascular Ancillary Study

Major Goals: The POINTER Neurovascular Ancillary Study (POINTER-NV) will comprehensively assess autonomic function, cerebral autoregulation, and vascular structure and function by evaluating aortic, carotid, and cerebral hemodynamics using complementary techniques (i.e., ultrasound, tonometry, and continuous blood pressure and heart rate monitoring) under a variety of conditions (i.e., at rest, during orthostatic stress, and during carbon dioxide inhalation). The overall goal of POINTER-NV is to provide critical insight into key neurovascular mechanisms that may underlie lifestyle effects on cognitive function in vulnerable older adults.

Revised June 2024

14. Title: Alzheimer's Gut Microbiome Project

Major Goals: The Microbiome Ancillary Study adds in-home fecal sample collection at Baseline and Month 24 of the parent trial, and donation of stored Baseline and Month 24 plasma samples (from the parent trial biospecimen repository) for ancillary study enrollees. Samples will be profiled using metagenomics and metabolomics technologies to identify the effects of the MIND Diet and other lifestyle intervention domains on the gut microbiome and metabolome and relate these outcomes to pre-defined Alzheimer's Disease (AD) metabolic signatures, brain structure and function (in partnership with the POINTER Brain Imaging Ancillary Study), and cognition (assessed in the parent trial).

16. Title: Early Onset AD Consortium - the LEAD Study (LEADS)

Major Goals: We will comprehensively characterize cognitive, imaging and biofluid changes over time in EOAD, and compare to a matched sample of LOAD participants identified in ADNI. We will employ machine learning algorithms to develop sensitive clinical and imaging measures of EOAD progression. An exploratory aim will apply next generation sequencing to assess for novel genetic risk factors for disease. The study will also establish a network of EOAD research sites and set the stage for the launch of clinical trials in this population.

17. Title: Alzheimer's Disease Neuroimaging Initiative 3 (ADNI3)

Major Goals: Since its launch in 2004, the overarching aim of the Alzheimer's Disease Neuroimaging Initiative (ADNI) has been realized in informing the design of therapeutic trials in AD. ADNI3 continues the previously funded ADNI-1, ADNI-GO, and ADNI-2 studies that have been combined public/private collaborations between academia and industry to determine the relationships between the clinical, cognitive, imaging, genetic and biochemical biomarker characteristics of the entire spectrum of Alzheimer's disease (AD). The overall goal of the study is to continue to discover, optimize, standardize, and validate clinical trial measures and biomarkers used in AD research.
