Research Focus:

Current research interests include identifying characteristic of individuals that are eligible but opt-out of health insurance coverage; describing diabetes patients with glucose and blood pressure at goal but are still progressing to diabetic kidney disease. Ongoing interests include identifying strategies to improve diabetes management, and prevention of diabetes complications. In addition, issues related to screening and case management of seniors at risk for hospitalization. I also maintain interests in the application of disease models in the economic evaluation of clinical or community intervention programs addressing vaccine confidence.

Formal Teaching:

Course Co-Director, PHP 310 Health Care in the US (500+ students), Spring/Fall Semester, Brown University School of Public, Department of Health Services Policy and Practice, Providence, RI, 2019 - present
