"Decolonization, Democracy and Development in the Caribbean." This is was a Ford Foundation Grant ($45,000) for three major conferences and a number of discussion groups on the post-colonial problems of the Caribbean area. The titles of the specific conferences and discussion groups that resulted were given in the sections on conferences and discussions groups. In addition to examining the issues indicated by these titles, these conferences had as their aim the bringing together of Caribbean, Latin American and North American scholars. Revised versions of most of the papers from the three conferences have been published in the Newer Caribbean, edited with Carl Stone.

"Conference Travel Grant." This was an Inter-American Foundation grant ($5,000) for travel expenses in support of the above conferences.
